The Time Is Always Now: Artists Reframe the Black Figure

Philadelphia Museum of Art

Through Sunday, February 9, 2025

After a successful run at London's National Portrait Gallery, The Time is Always Now: Artists Reframe the Black Figure is now on display at the Philadelphia Museum of Art. The exhibit — which takes its name from James Baldwin's 1963 essay on desegregation — features 28 contemporary Black and African artists, including Amy Sherald (you may know her mural at 11th and Sansom streets), Michael Armitage and Claudette Johnson. The collection, curated by trailblazing journalist Ekow Eshun, celebrates Black contemporary life in all its nuance, richness and beauty through painting, drawing and sculpture.

CultureFest! Lunar New Year

PENN MUSEUM

Saturday, January 25, 2025 • 10:00 am - 4:00 pm

Learn more about Chinese, Vietnamese, Korean, Tibetan and other Asian cultural traditions — and grab some holiday treasures — at the 44th annual Lunar New Year edition of the Penn Museum's signature CultureFest! series. The Year of the Snake celebration includes live music, dance and family-friendly activities like storytelling and make-and-take art, plus the grand finale: a performance of the traditional Lion Dance.
